

WISDOM KEYS for UNDERSTANDING HUMAN REALITY

Evolving deliberately involves understanding the nature of our human existence, our experienced reality; understanding the natural evolution of consciousness, collectively and individually. Understanding and experiencing your life based on these universal truths insures living by your own conscious creation, master of your own fate, so to speak. Be mindful of these truths whether or not you decide to participate in The Forgiveness Process or not. These Keys are the bedrock upon which your transcendence is built; these Keys insure you evolve deliberately, and for some, authentically.

1. There is only One Mind, the ancient Mind which is conditioned by separation and duality. Your mind is not your mind, but is an extension of the Ancient Mind. Similarly, your thoughts are not your own thoughts, but literally downloaded from the “thought sphere” associated with the Ancient Mind. Thus, the sense of a separate self is generated by the neurobiological structure of the human brain. Humanity is evolving beyond the need for a sense of separation, but the fears of change are great and hold back progress.
2. In reality, you are not alone in this life, have never been, and can never be, no matter what your situation – awake or asleep. Choose to expand the perspective of your reality and recognize the deeply embedded illusion of separation.
3. You selected your parents, your body, your name, the time and place to be born and all the conditions necessary for you to Become. You are always selecting the conditions of your reality, moment by moment, consciously or unconsciously.
4. You are here on a mission, not a mission for the world-at-large except in the ultimate sense, but a mission for your Soul Self, for your individual evolution, and for the potential conscious connection to your True Self and the collective All-That-Is.
5. At all times, you are experiencing life as part of a multidimensional reality that encompasses All that ever was and will be; and you are continually in an intimate relationship with that reality, consciously or unconsciously. How much are you missing with your limited perspective on reality?

6. You are a living hierarchy of Selves all experiencing simultaneously in all dimensions of Being, the least of which is the physical Earth Self which now expresses your personalities though seemingly stuck in a time loop destined for pain and suffering.
7. There is no sin or evil anywhere in the Universe, there is only evolution. There is no death or ending, there is only change. Don't remain stuck in a recently completed (2012) era of duality which is filled with the collective fear of change, thus pain and suffering.
8. Birth and death are interchangeable terms that define the same phenomenon. What is birth here is a sort of death in another dimension. What is death here is a rebirth in another dimension. Between the two, birth into the physical plane is by far a more jarring experience. Human birth is the initial life trauma.
9. Death of the physical body and rebirth of the universal body is in fact a continuous experience that can be likened to stepping through a doorway from the storm outside to a pleasingly comfortable environment inside where old friends and family have gathered to greet you.
10. Transformation (death) of the universal body and rebirth of the physical one is precisely the opposite experience in which one leaves the comfortable community of spirit and steps outside to the chaotic world through "the valley of forgetfulness" and into the hands of human strangers where the adventure begins anew.
11. There is no "judgment" of the Earth experience except in the sense of one's own reflections upon desired lessons learned and intended values gained. There is no condemnation, no punishment, and no hell except what you create consciously or unconsciously as your experienced reality while living. Karma is manifest in health, relationships, and is the tool best used for reflection.
12. The experiences of life on Earth ultimately all coalesce into the quest for intimacy with all life everywhere, not for obliteration of the ego but to exalt the sensing of the Soul Self in relation to the Whole. You are here for the profound realization that you are uniquely Divine, while also recognizing All are Divine, and the Divine is All.
13. Your Soul is bound to Earth only while you are fully conscious. In sleep, in daydreams, in meditative states, your Soul Self withdraws to the spiritual dimensions for nurturing, guidance, and re-energizing. Consciousness cannot remain bound to Earth if the Soul is deprived of these "rests." Total deprivation of sleep causes the Soul Self to detach and release the body permanently as do other "blocks" and "traumas" within the physical environment. Not appreciating your Life can become a deprivation for the Soul.

14. In your present life you experience your selves as a “deduction” of all you have ever experienced. This deduction is your “self-image” and it reflects your perception of your Soul Self in all dimensions of Being. However, the perception of your Soul Self may be biased based on misunderstood “blocks” and or unresolved “trauma,” or just because knew to teach this evolutionary information. However, when the deductive self-image is released, suffering ends.
15. You will live forever in one dimension of Being or another. You will always know yourself as the Self except in the sense that your “Soul Self” is always changing into higher deductions of experience. You experience this same relativity of Self in the present life as you “grow” from infancy into maturity and beyond. The 30-year old is not the exact same Self as the Self was experienced at 6 months or 6 years or even at 29 years. But the deduction of experience continues to modify the perception of Self into an ever-unfolding identification with the Self Divine. [If this information strikes some inner response, even a vague attractive tug, then you are probably evolving deliberately and are nearing the completion of your Earth deductive experiences. Possibly, your life is being experienced as one of Light, Love, and Laughter.]
16. Your Soul Self is not native to this planet. You are here only for evolutionary experiences that prepare you for greater unfoldment elsewhere. Earth is the College of Relationships and you cannot graduate from this college until you have fully mastered the subject. Not even your physical form is expressly native to Earth. This naturally evolved animal form has been deliberately modified by “off Earth” influences to accommodate human experiences and expressions. Thus, we are aliens. Various life forms on the planet are “transplants.”
17. There is physical life very similar to human life spread throughout the physical Universe upon planets much like Earth. There is much more to the physical Universe than has yet been detected from Earth; there exist other physical dimensions that are not perceived by present detection devices. All that we commonly term “physical life” exists within the same vibrational density of matter and therefore occupies zones of reality that seem separate from the spirit dimensions. This is also an “illusion of separation.”
18. All harmonics of the One Universe coexist in the one reality and are interlaced within each other even within your own physical body. The entire Universe in every dimension is ever present within the same space at the same time. Being is a multidimensional expression of the One Reality with so-called matter expressing at the lower end of the spectrum in linear time since linear time is the vehicle of expression at these frequencies. Yet, linear time is also an illusion of separation since it is not absolute throughout the multidimensional Universe but serves only to make events for consciousness in the denser dimensions. This is changing, this is currently evolving for and with us; we’re becoming more and more aware of events happening simultaneously.

19. The word Spirit itself is an example of the Illusion of Separation serving only to delineate the physical and non-physical dimensions of reality, whereas the delineation is “real” only from the viewpoint of the physical Universe.
20. Your physical body is not the base of a living hierarchy of multidimensional expression. You are spirit and matter occupying space and non-space, time and non-time, finitude and infinity.
21. Your body is not your body, it belongs to the Earth. So, when your physical-self-image disappears you experience your body as a vehicle for the Divine Dance of Consciousness and you experience your Self simply as a dance of personalities continually rising and falling away.
22. You are an Infinite Being having a human experience!
